A Wonderful Record.

As made up by improved and exact processes Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a most efficient remedy for regulating all the womanly functions, correcting displacements, as prolapsus, anteversion and retroversion, overcoming painful periods, toning up the nerves and bringing about a perfect state of health. It cures the backache, periodical headaches, the dragging-down distress in the pelvic region, the pain and tenderness over lower abdominal region, dries up the pelvic catarrhal drain, so disagreeable and weakening, and overcomes every form of weakness incident to the organs distinctly feminine.

"Favorite Prescription" is the only medicine for women, the makers of which are not afraid to print their formula on the bottle wrapper, thus taking their patrons into their full confidence. It is the only medicine for women, every ingredient of which has the strongest possible endorsement of the most eminent medical practitioners and writers of our day, recommending it for the diseases for which "Favorite Prescription" is used. It is the only put-up medicine for women, sold through druggists, which does not contain a large percentage of alcohol, so harmful in the long run, especially to delicate women. It has more genuine cures to its credit than all other medicines for women combined, having saved thousands of sufferers from the operating table and the surgeon's knife. It has restored delicate, weak women to strong and vigorous health and virility, making motherhood possible, where there was barrenness before, thereby brightening and making happy many thousands of homes by the advent of little ones to strengthen the marital bonds and add sunshine where gloom and despondency had reigned before.

Write to Dr. R. V. Pierce. He will send you good, fatherly, professional advice, in a plain, sealed envelope, absolutely free. Address him at Buffalo, N. Y.

APPALLING RAILROAD ACCIDENT

Fifty persons are known to have been trapped and burned to death and 80 others seriously injured in the head-on collision early yesterday near Woodville, Ind., 48 miles from Chicago, in which a Baltimore and Ohio immigrant train was smashed by a fast freight train.

All but one of the six cars on the passenger train were burned, and all but six of the bodies were incinerated.

One hundred and sixty-five passengers were on the train. Of these 50 were either killed outright or were burned to death in a fire that broke out in the wreckage immediately after the collision. The names of all of the dead will probably never be known, as 45 of the bodies were consumed in flames or were so badly burned that identification will be out of the question.

Thirty-eight people were injured, and several of these will die. Eighty others escaped unhurt, but lost nearly all their baggage and clothing. The disaster was caused by a blunder of some employe of the railroad company, but just where the blame lies has not as yet been determined.

The passenger train, which was loaded with Russians, Servians and Poles, all of them recent arrivals and bound for Chicago or other places in the Northwest, was the second section of a through train from Baltimore.

The engineer of the freight, train No. 96, on instructions received at McCool, Ind., waited at a siding at Babcock, Ind., to allow the immigrant train to pass. One report is made that the engineer of the freight train had not been informed that the passenger train was running in two sections; the other is that the first section of the passenger train carried no lights or signlas of any kind indicating that a second section was close behind.

As soon as the first section of the immigrant train had passed the switch at Babcock the freight, in charge of Engineer Burke and Conductor Meste, started eastward. A light snow was falling, which increased the darkness of the early morning, and as the freight was rounding a sharp curve just west of Woodville the second section of the immigrant train came in sight a short distance away, tearing toward Chicago at the rate of 40 miles an hour. The two trains came together with unslackened speed, and in the crash six passenger coaches and several freight cars were knocked into kindling wood, and, together with the locomotives, went rolling down the 10-foot embankment.

Fire broke out almost immediately in the wreckage, and although a number of injured were saved by desperate efforts of the crew and survivors, the greater part of those who were pinned down in the debris were burned to death. The flames spread through the wreckage so rapidly that it was impossible to save a number of people who were only slightly hurt, but were held fast by timbers that weighed them down. These were burned in plain sight of the throng that stood around the scene of the disaster utterly unable to lend assistance in any way. The fire continued until all of the shattered cars were entirely consumed, and of the 50 people whose death followed the collision 45 were burned to ashes.

The crash of the collision was so great that a number of farmers and other residents of the neighborhood came hastening to the scene, but they could do nothing except lend assistance to the injured who had already been taken from the wreck. All of the six cars of the immigrant train were burned, as were the three freight cars.

REIGN OF TERROR.

Pittsburg last night was laboring under tremendous excitement, terrorized by the series of crimes of the past 10 days, the perpetrators of nearly all of which have escaped undiscovered. Women are remaining indoors after nightfall, and even men avoid the streets that are not well lighted and frequented.

Emboldened by the apparent helplessness of the police and detective forces of the city, the highwaymen and burglars have apparently extended their operations into broad daylight, as well as working under cover of darkness.

At 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon at the corner of Sixth avenue and Wood street, one of the most crowded spots in the heart of Pittsburg, and within a few hundred feet of police headquarters, Mrs. A. G. Boykin was assaulted and robbed by two men, who made their escape.

The series of crimes of the past 10 days has been increased within 24 hours by three murders, a number of highway robberies, accompanied by violence, and the crucifixion of a woman.

The crucifixion case was brought to light by the screams of a woman in a tenement on Forbes street, near the Jones & Laughlin Steel Mills. Neighbors rushed in and found Mrs. Jean Mitchell, 19 years old, in the kitchen, huddled in a kneeling position on the floor, with both hands nailed to the draining-board of the sink, with the blood running down her arms. Alongside the hands lay a hatchet, the weapon which had driven the two big nails and which was then used to draw them out.

The woman was unconscious and was taken to a hospital. When she recovered she merely said that when she entered her flat that morning something struck her on the back of the head, and she felt herself drawn toward the sink, her hands pressed against the board and two nails driven in. The police have arrested William Neely, known as William Mitchell, and the husband of the woman.

Babies in "No Children" Flat.

When Henry Williamson erected the Winona Apartment, in Pittsburg, he decreed that children, dogs and cats should be barred. There are eight suites in the building, and he did not have any trouble in renting them to eight nice young married pairs, not one of whom had children, dogs or cats. That was about six months ago. Three months ago the stork got busy and decided to show Mr. Williamson that he was running things to suit itself. Since then the mischievous old bird has dropped pretty little babies into seven of the flats, and people in the eighth expect a visit, too, in the very near future. Neighbors now refer to the flats as the "Stork Apartments," and Williamson is trying to figure out how he can cancel the leases.

Fortunate Missourians.

"When I was a druggist, at Livonia, Mo.," writes T. J. Dwyer, now of Graysville, Mo., "three of my customers were permanently cured of consumption by Dr. King's New Discovery, and are well and strong today. One was trying to sell his property and move to Arizona, but after using New Discovery a short time he found it unnecessary to do so. I regard Dr. King's New Discovery as the most wonderful medicine in existence." Surest Cough and Cold cure and Throat and Lung healer. Guaranteed by E. S. Leadbeater & Sons, Druggists, 50c and $1. JEWELRY.

THE DINING-ROOM

is used oftener than almost any other room in the house. That is why it should be made the most comfortable spot, and be pleasingly arranged.

Without cut glass and silverware a dining room makes little impression and is hardly home like. A few pieces tastily arranged will make a better effect than many of them placed indiscriminately.

A silver fern dish puts a finish to the table and livens up the room. A silver set is needed to decorate the sideboard. A few cut glass pieces so arranged as to contrast with the tea set will make the sideboard as it should be. The cut glass required are decanters, berry bowls and fruit dishes. The only other silver piece that should be in evidence is the candelabra.

If you want your dining room to be just so have the bread trays and other trays of silver. Even the crumb tray and scraper should be silver-plated.

The steel knives should have silver-plated handles to match the silver-plated spoons, knives and forks.

If you are not satisfied unless your dining-room is properly fitted, you are undoubtedly particular about your own person. It is just as well that you are. A little attention to your ownself begets attention from others. Wear a diamond ring or two, a locket, watch and chain. As the chain is more in evidence than the watch or the locket, you may as well wear the best there is—the guaranteed Z-K Gold Chain.

Let us fit out the dining-room as well as yourself. Prices very reasonable.

Alexandria Gazette AND VIRGINIA ADVERTISER

TUESDAY EVENING, NOV. 13, 1906.

SAMUEL J. BARROWS, president of the International Prison Congress, discusses this question in the November Charities and the Commons, saying, first, that we must stop making criminals and that society must frankly face its own responsibility. Among the various suggested means of preventing the increase of criminals he mentions vacation schools, parks, playgrounds, children's courts and the probation system. He would abolish absolutely the fee system under which the county sheriffs are paid so much a head for entrance, discharge and board of prisoners. He contends that no prison system is a success which does not aim at the education and reform of the prisoner, and, finally, that it is imperative to extend a helping hand to the discharged prisoner by giving him a chance to find his proper place in society. But Mr. Barrows overlooks the fact that there are now more schools, parks, playgrounds, etc., than ever before, while the number of criminals is rapidly increasing. The great trouble now is that parents do not properly bring up their children at home. In a majority of cases they are not taught manners, respect or consideration for others, or regard for the laws of God or man, but are given license to do as they please and this license soon brings many of them within the pale of the criminal class.

THE STORY circulated to the effect that the widow of Russell Sage was to distribute $80,000,000 to worthy and unobtrusive persons brought a large number of persons of the Micawber genus to that lady's home at Lawrence, L. I., yesterday and today. Many spent all the money they could command to reach the place, while some doubtless walked to their objective point. They were sorely disappointed when they were denied admission to the house and told that the statement to the effect that she was about to make bequests to individuals was a canard. Mrs. Sage, it is now stated, proposes to build a memorial church and a university at Far Rockaway to the memory of her late husband and herself.

"WE HAVE shown," said the Bisbee, (Arizona) Miner the day after the voting, "that we had much rather remain a territory forever than be hooked up with New Mexico." The official count verifies the statement. Arizona has the distinction of giving Mr. Roosevelt a right-[illegible] setback. There is no doubt that the people of Arizona would rather remain a territory than be merged into a State with a President who preaches the "square deal" did everything in [illegible] to force Arizona into union with New Mexico in the hope of defrauding democrats of two senatorships. Arizona can wait for justice, and the democrats can wait for their senators.

THERE IS in Baltimore an organization known as the Empty Stocking Club the object of which is to bring happiness and cheer to nearly 3,000 poor children of that city at Christmas time. The distribution will be made of stockings well filled with goodies, dolls and toys some afternoon during the week preceding Christmas. The motives of the members are commendable, and they deserve credit for the inception of the movement. There are in every city little ones who experience more sorrow during the holiday season than at any other time of the year from the fact that Kriss Kringle gives their humble habitations the "go by."

THE TRUSTS and combinations that have done so much to increase the prices of the necessaries of living in order to increase their profits are making partial amends by advancing the wages of their own employees. In this way, says the Philadelphia Record, they may be enable to prevent strikes and they may to some extent conciliate antagonistic public opinion; but the injury to the great mass of consumers cannot be atoned for by bettering the condition of the comparatively few. The extortions of fostered monopolies in so far as they are based upon undue preferences at the hands of the government must be brought to an end.

From Washington.

[Correspondence of the Alexandria Gazette.]

Washington, Nov. 13.

"No one man's plan will be adopted by the commission, said Charles H. Huttig, president of the Third National Bank of St. Louis, a member of the currency commission of the American Bankers Association, which began its second days session this morning to devise a proposition to Congress for a more elastic currency. It was through the efforts of Mr. Huttig and Festus J. Wade, president of the Mercantile Trust Company, of St. Louis that the commission decided that a two thirds vote shall be necessary to adopt any plan. "We will take the best features of all the plans suggested, declared Mr. Huttig," and from them form the once that will be submitted to Congress. I believe we will complete our task tomorrow and is the general feeling that we will come to a conclusion that will be entirely satisfactory. Congress should take up the subject in earnest with a view of giving the country legislation which will prevent the annual recurrence of the scarcity of currency during the crop moving season, and as far as possible, a financial condition which will permit of excessively high rates of interest. Mr. Huttig favors, and it is understood, many of the commission's members agree with him, that a board of governors consisting of the Secretary of the Treasury, the Comptroler of the currency and the chief of a department of issue and redemption should be created for the purpose of passing on what banks are qualified under the law to issue emergency currency.

Secretary Wilson of the Agricultural Department returned from his western trip this morning. Among the first matters he will be called upon to take up is the "reprimand" of Willis L. Moore, chief of the Weather Bureau, ordered by President Roosevelt, for violation of the civil service regulations. Mr. Moore was charged by the Civil Service Commission with transferring a printer from Washington to New Orleans because of the printer's failure to pay his union dues. It is believed at the department that a letter of rebuke for his meddling with outside affairs to the detriment of the government service will be the most likely punishment for Chief Moore.

When the Interstate Commerce Commission begins its investigation of the Harriman railroads it is probable that it will proceed under a resolution similar to that which controlled its action in the Northern Securities inquiry, the result of which E. H. Harriman has cause to remember. That resolution in part was as follows: "Whereas it appears to the commission that certain consolidations and combinations of carriers subject to the act to regulate commerce, including the method of association known as the 'community of interest' plan, should be made the subject of investigation to the end that the commission may be informed as to their formation, purposes and modes of operation, together with their effects upon the movement of interstate commerce and the rates received therefor, and to the further end that it may be ascertained whether such consolidations, combinations and methods of association are unlawful under the act or have the effect of violating any of its provisions."

Col. Mark Alexander Dead.

Announcement was made yesterday of the death of Col. Mark Alexander. Of the deceased the Baltimore Sun says: "The death of Col. Mark Alexander Sunday at the home of his granddaughter, Mrs. William Pinkney Whyte, jr., at Ruxton, removes another gentleman of the 'old school,' a type which is fast disappearing. Col. Alexander was in his 82d year and had just returned from a long visit to his brother, Judge Charles Alexander, and his nephew, Mr. Alexander Hamilton, of Petersburg, Va. He came of distinguished Virginia ancestry, his grandfather, Mark Alexander, being a signer of the Mecklenburg Declaration of Independence; his uncle, Mark Alexander, was a Representative in Congress for three terms, and a colleague and connection of John Randolph, of Roanoke; his father, Nathaniel Alexander, was a prominent planter of Mecklenburg county and had been a midshipman in the navy during the war of 1812. The colonel was a graduate and master of arts of the University of Virginia, and in his youth, which was spent largely in Washington, came in contact with many distinguished men still lingering on the stage of public affairs, among them Webster, Calhoun, Clay and President Tyler, and he could tell many interesting incidents of them. He married Anne Gordon Coleman, and their only child, Elizabeth, married the late Gen. James R. Herbert, of Confederate fame. His granddaughters are Mrs. Kennedy Boone, Mrs. William Pinkney Whyte, jr., Mrs. Warren Buckler, Mrs. Courtland H. Smith and Miss Elizabeth Alexander Herbert. Besides them he leaves nine great-grandchildren.

Jackson, of the First Maryland district, who has admitted that he got his seat in Congress by a liberal use of money, yesterday announced to the world in another interview that what he spent was nobody's business and he does not intend to loose any sleep over the matter.

New York Stock Market.

New York, Nov. 13.—There was a strong tone to the market all through the first hour and after fractional gains made at the opening prices made further advances ranging from ½ to 1½ point in the usually active issues. London bought about 15,000 shares on balance in this market. The market continued strong after the first hour with a large part of the buying based on the presence of Secretary Shaw here. Outside of this, however, there was distinct strength in the leading railroad issues, due wholly to impressive buying. The entire market showed continued improvement.

Governor Cox, of Tennessee, and Governor Heyward, of South Carolina, declared that foreign immigrants now coming to the South may result in solving the race problem. They say that whites are supreme and must rule. M. V. Richards, land and immigration commissioner of the Southern Railway, in a speech showed that the tide of immigration, which has flowed for years to the west and northwest, has turned southward, and with a proper appreciation of the needs of white immigrants the south would easily assimilate the new arrivals.

DEATH OF GENERAL SHAFTER.

Major General William Rufus Shafter, United States army (retired), died yesterday afternoon at the ranch of Capt. W. H. McKittrick, his son-in-law, 20 miles south of Batersfield, Cal., after an illness of seven days from pneumonia, despite the best medical attention available in California.

Major General Shafter was born in Michigan, October 16, 1835. On August 22, 1861, he was made first lieutenant in the Seventh Michigan Volunteer Infantry and served throughout the civil war. After leaving the volunteer service at the close of the war he was appointed lieutenant colonel of the Forty-fifty regiment cavalry, with which regiment he served during the reconstruction period until 1869. He was made a brigadier general May 3, 1897.

When war was declared with Spain in 1899 Secretary of War Alger selected General Shafter to command the Fifth Army Corps, and assigned him to make the first landing in Cuba and assist the navy to capture the city of Santiago and the Spanish fleet under the command of Admiral Cervera.

General Shafter was made a major general of volunteers, and commanded the American army in Cuba at the battle of Santiago, and finally received the surrender of the Spanish general and the city of Santiago, which practically terminated the war with Spain.

General Shafter was retired for age on October 16, 1899. By special act of Congress he was promoted to the grade of major generals of regular two years later.

Killed by Explosion.

Six men were killed and five seriously injured yesterday when a boiler in the power house of the Lake Shore Railroad, in Collinwood, a suburb of Cleveland, Ohio, blew up. The men were working close to the boiler, building the foundation for a dynamo, when the explosion occurred. They were all in the mouth of a subway, facing the end which blew out of the boiler, and were scalded to death by the immense volumes of steam which shot out. Engineers at the power house say the explosion was due to the formation of a "mud ring" in the filtering apparatus which clarifies the water before passage into the boiler. The shock of the explosion was felt for two miles, and created intense excitement in the town.

One man was killed, three fatally and two seriously injured in the explosion of a casting at the Youngstown Ohio, Foundry and Machine Company's plant yesterday afternoon. The men were making a steel casting. They had filled a five-foot pipe with molten steel and were gathered around it when it burst with a terrific explosion. Molten steel was thrown all over the foundry and felt like rain on the men gathered around the casting. The white-hot steel flowing out on the floor caused the woodwork of the foundry to catch fire, but this was extinguished with small damage to the plant.

The question of reopening the investigation is as yet undermined, and there is strong opposition to it.

Forty thousand dollars will be spent in Richmond next May to entertain the Confederate Veterans. Six months ago the Council agreed to appropriate $10,000 for the reunion. Baldal Couple Attacked at Church.

Crowned with bride roses, bedecked with a wreath of smilax prettily twined, and charming in a gown of white silk, covered with a flowing veil of white, Rose Fish rode to the Polish Catholic Church in Utica, N. Y., yesterday by the side of Frank Rambraicha, her affianced lover. Frank wore a becoming wedding suit of black, enhanced with a gorgeous white silk vest.

A moment after the couple stepped from the carriage, John Fish and Philip Wroblewski, brother and brother-in-law of the bride, rushed on the couple and assaulted them in a manner calculated to end the nuptial proceedings. Fish seized his sister by the arms and shook her in a forcible way.

"You shall not marry that fellow," he cried. "You must come home. Leave him now," and he shook the screaming bride as a terrier might shake a rat. He tore the bridal veil from her brow and tried to rumple it in the mud of the street. In the struggle her gown was badly torn.

Rambraicha attempted to go to the rescue of his bride-to-be, but Wroblewski grabbed him by the body and tore his silk vest from the arms to the hips. Then he heaved the unhappy groom into a pool of dirty water by the roadside. In the fall his head struck a stone, cutting a gash that added blood to the mud that soiled his outfit.

Rambraicha yelled lustily for help. Then he scrambled from the gutter, ran down the street and mounted a high ladder, where he remained until quiet had been restored.

The police rescued the bride-elect, and when she had arraigned her toilet, she hastened to the spot where her lover was perched high in the air.

Upon her assurance that all was safe, Rambraicha descended, and the nuptial knot was tied, while the police took the brother and brother-in-law off to cells.

The trouble is said to have arisen from the fact that the bride owed her relatives some money borrowed from them when she was injured some time ago in one of the mills in Utica. One of her hands was caught in a machine and torn from her arm. A suit followed, in which Rose was given a judgment for $5,000 against the company. Her relatives, it is said, feared that if the girl married Rambraicha she would give the money she may receive to her husband and not pay what they claim she owes.

Cut His Wife's Throat.

Enraged because his young wife would not return to live with him, James Wilcher, of Richmond, last night, it is alleged, cut her throat from ear to ear, and, leaving her dying on the floor, made his escape. He is still at large.

Mrs. Wilcher is only sixteen years old, and was married two years ago. She had left her husband, alleging cruel treatment. Yesterday she returned to his house to take away some clothes she had left. While she was in the bedroom, Wilcher returned, and, it is supposed, made a vain plea for reconciliation, after which he cut her throat.

Wilcher's mother was in an adjoining room, and as he passed he kissed her, saying his wife had refused to return to him and that he was going to commit suicide. A warrant has been issued for his arrest.

Becoming alarmed at Mrs. Wilcher's absence, Mrs. Woody, her mother, with whom she had been living since leaving her husband, went to the Wilcher home and was the first to discover her daughter almost dead upon the floor. The girl was hurried to a hospital, where the physicians say there is a slight chance for recovery.

Today's Telegraphic News

The Indiana Railroad Horror.

Chicago, Nov. 13.—An allegation that the doors of several of the coaches on the immigrant special train wrecked at Woodville, Indiana, yesterday, were locked, is being investigated today by Coroner Carson, of Valparaiso, Indiana. Considerable evidence has been dug up tending to show that many of the half hundred victims of the disaster were trapped like rats with no chance of escape from death.

Several additional victims of yesterday's horror are dying in Chicago hospitals today and it is certain that the list of 40 dead will be swelled considerably. It is practically certain that three Austrians, two men and a woman, now at Mercy Hospital, will die before night.

Of the 128 victims taken to Chicago hospitals yesterday only fifty were in a condition to be moved today. Regarding the placing of the blame for the wreck, Coroner Carson has said today: "It seems to be up to the crew of the first section of the immigrant train to explain how the accident occurred."

A number of incinerated corpses were dug out of a mass of wreckage at Woodville, today. All of the bodies were burned beyond identification and will be buried in the potters field.

Developments this afternoon tend to place the blame for the wreck on the first section of the immigrant train, as it has been practically proved that the markers on the rear of the first train, while properly placed, had gone out.

Valparaiso, Ind., Nov. 13.—From eighty-five to one hundred people were killed in the wreck of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad immigrant train near Wodville, Monday, according to the belief of Coroner J. C. Carson, of Porter county.

Bryan and Hearst.

New York Nov. 13.—The fight between Bryan and Hearst for the democratic presidential nomination in 1908 is on. Cheered as democratic leader William R. Hearst was the guest of honor at a banquet last night at Delmonico's given by the successful candidates on the New York State ticket. Many other democrats of prominence were present. Mr. Hearst was hailed as the next presidental nominee of the democratic party and the dominant note of all the speeches was that the fight that Hearst was making against the trusts was only begun in spite of his defeat. Mr. Hearst pledged himself to continue the fight. Attorney General Jackson said that Hearst's career "was just at its glorous beginning," and that he would as soon vote for Mr. Hearst as for Mr. Bryan. Within a few blocks of where Hearst was being hailed as the coming national standard bearer, headquarters were being opened in the Victoria Hotel by the Commercial Travelers Anti-Trust League with the avowed object of booming William J. Bryan for President. One of the first things on the League's programme is a dinner at which Mr. Bryan will be the guest of honor. The headquarters are to be permanent.

The Thaw Trial.

New York, Nov. 13.—Harry Thaw will seek to justify his killing of Stanford White and save himself from the electric chair on the "unwritten law." For a fee, said to be $100,000, Delphin M. Delmas, the famous San Francisco lawyer, has been engaged to conduct the defense of the young Pittsburg millionaire when he is brought to trial on December 3. Judge Delmas was engaged by Mrs. Wiliam Thaw. The "unwritten law," as Thaw's defense, will bring out the story of White's inner life. The Rialto and the artists' world was the Bohemia where White lived and the stories of his merry eccentricities of entertainment are recounted in every cafe and studio. These tales of midnight mornings will be told on the witness stand, but the very nature of the defense will bring out the story of Thaw's ten years of frivolity and revelry on Broadway after dark.

Mrs. Sage Besieged.

New York, Nov. 13.—Scores of mendicants, schemers and grafters generally today are berating the "hardness" of Mrs. Russell Sage. Incidentally they are regretting their folishness in wasting good money to pay their way to Lawrence, L. I. A story was circulated yesterday that Mrs. Sage was going to give all of the $80,000,000 left her to worthy and unobtrusive persons. It was all a mistake. Mrs. Sage was not correctly quoted, but scores journeyed to Lawrence yesterday to get in early with their bids for help. A militant maid and butler barred the way. Not one of the mendicants got a chance even to plead his cause. Mrs. Sage expects to make large donations, but they will not go that way. Her first big benefaction, it is reported, will take the form of a memorial church and university to be erected at Far Rockaway to the memory of Russell and Olivia Sage.

The Gillette Trial.

Herkimer, N. Y., Nov. 13.—With the selection of three jurors the jury in the trial of Chester E. Gillette, charged with the murder of his sweetheart, Grace Brown, will be complete. Nettie Benedict, whose love the State hopes to show was the cause for the tragedy, sat in court today and smiled at the defendant. She will be his principal witness. "We will prove," said the district attorney, "that under promise of marriage, Grace Brown trusted Gillette too far. Then came Nettie Benedict and Gillette was captivated. He forgot his professed love for Grace Brown, but realized that she must be eliminated if his new love affair was to prosper. Therefore, the unexplained trip to the Adirondacks, the boat ride, the overturned boat and the finding of the girl's body."

Will Not Aid Money Market.

New York, Nov. 13.—Secretary of the Treasury Shaw reiterated today his determination not to aid the money market at this time. He made it very plain that the present money stringency was brought about by stock speculation and that he did not propose to have the United States Treasury used as a gambling bank.

Money on call was as high as twelve per cent today, and bankers and brokers admitted that unless something was done to give relief, the million-dollar stock pools would have to unload. Drastic liquidation would mean in a high money market a big fall in prices before normal money conditions would be restored.

Charged With Killing Her Lover.

Scranton, Pa., Nov. 13.—Although a warrant charging murder was issued by Justice Cooney at Dunmore yesterday, Katie Burke has not been arrested for causing the death of her lover, Thomas Dougherty, who was pierced to the heart on Saturday night, presumably by a hatpin. The refusal of the man to implicate any one in his fatal injury, declaring that he himself was to blame for it, and the declaration of the girl that it was an accident, have caused the officials to halt in their proceedings, and until more light can be thrown upon the mystery by witnesses who are to be called before the District Attorney the matter will be allowed to rest.

Miss Burke, who is 24 years old, declares between her sobs that she didn't kill Doughtery; that it was the accidental piercing of a needle she had in her waist that caused the fatal wound. She says she met Dougherty and that they sat together near their homes, talking for a while, and that when she got up to go the young man caught her to restrain her, and in the embrace the needle was pressed into his heart. According to another story, however, Dougherty had called to spend the evening in the hope of effecting a reconciliation, they having had a lovers' quarrel some weeks ago. Instead of making up, they got into another quarrel, it is said, and the stabbing resulted.

Strike Probable.

New York, Nov. 13.—The tangled railroad labor situation on the Eastern trunk lines is further ensnarled today over serious differences that have arisen between the engineers and firemen of the New York Central and the New Haven systems and their officials. The Erie Railroad's dispute with its firemen has been held up until all the firemen have voted on the proposition of going on strike unless the company accedes to their demands. The trouble between the engineers and the firemen of the Vanderbilt and Morgan railroads is over the nature of the employment. With the change from steam to electricity on all suburban traffic, the engineers fear that the wage scale will be reduced and the firemen that their employment may be done away with. Both unions demand that the same rate of wages and length of runs be continued under the electric system. Adjustment committees, headed by Grand Chief Stone, of the Engineers' Brotherhood, and Grand Chief Hannahan, of the Firemen's Union, held a conference today with the officials of the New Haven and New York Central Railroads.

Fire on a Cunarder.

Queenstown, Nov. 2—The Cunard liner Caronia arrived here today. While the ship was working her way by Roche's Point early this morning fire was discovered in the electric fan room. The passengers were asleep and Captain Barr, fearing a panic, ordered the fire crew to extinguish the fire with as little noise as possible. The ship's crew were piped to stations and the life boats were swung from the davits.

The fire was obstinate and several passengers awoke and looked out, but men who had posted themselves in the passage ways told every one that nothing was wrong. After a struggle for over two hours the fire was extinguished at four o'clock.

Many passengers did not know of the peril until breakfast.

The Caronia is a 20,000 ton ship and a year ago while proceeding down the New York Narrows grounded on Flynn's Knoll, where she lay for many hours. She sailed last Tuesday from New York with a large passenger list.

Women Cut Church Carpet.

Cleveland, Nov. 13.—A merry war is waging in the United Evangelical Church. Because it has been unable to pay the interest on a $5,000 morigage and support a pastor since last February, the trustees of the church decided to sell the building. There was little objection to this but when the trustees voted to give the silver plate used in the sacrament services to Trinity United Evangelical Church, and ordered the church members to leave all furnishings intact until a vote of the congregation could be had in regard to their disposition, 24 women, comprising the Ladies' Society, openly rebelled. The society had given $100 worth of furnishings in carpets, rugs and curtains. Ignoring the trustees' order to leave the furnishings alone the women met at the church and held a tearing-up bee of rugs, carpets and curtains. Scissors were used and the carpet and rugs fell into 24 sections, one for each member of the society.

To Donate $10,000,000.

Galveston, Tex., Nov. 13.—Needy Mexicans are to benefit from a $10,000,000 donation to be made to them by Pedro Alvarado, the young owner of the Palmillo mine, whose wealth is reported to be $150,000,000. Alvarado's plan is to build homes for the poor, erect schoolhouses, and churches so that their children may be educated and donate land. Since his rise from a peon to a millionaire many times over in eight short years, Alvarado has given away millions, but he proposes to outdo his own benefaction. Recently he offered to pay off Mexico's national debt, but President Diaz refused the offer because he was advised it was a political move to entangle his administration.

Killed Member of Black Hand.

New York, Nov. 13.—Death by bullet was the answer made today to a demand for money by the Black Hand. Threatened with assassination, Enrico Pavone, a young Italian stenographer, armed himself with a revolver, and when Annuziato Ligato, a Black Hand member, tried to kill him, because he refused to comply with the demand for money, Pavone shot and killed Ligato. Pavone had saved a sum of money to bring his wife over from Italy. The Black Hand heard of his savings.

Work of a Fire Fiend.

New York, Nov. 13.—The fire fiend resumed his incendiary activities today by setting fire to two letter boxes in private hallways. The fires were started within five minutes of each other on the same block in west Thirty-eighth street. The fire department extinguished the flames after small damage had been done. Eight fires were started last week by the incendiary. The incendiary so far has been able to pursue his operations without detection.

Assassination Plot Frustrated.

Naples, Nov. 13.—What the police say was a skillfully planned plot to assassinate King Victor Emanuel and the Duke and Duchess of Aosta, was nipped in the bud here today by the arrest of Gabriel Lansetta and a man known to be Lansetta's cousin, but whose name is unknown. The two men were recent arrivals in Naples having come here from Patterson, N. J. The arrest was made by Italian police upon cabled information from New York detectives engaged on the case for several weeks. Lansetta was to have slain the King and the other man was commissioned to kill the Duke and Duchess of Aosta. It is declared that the details of the assassination were all worked out at a recent meeting of "reds" in Patterson, N. J. The New York police were tipped off, but their quarry had flown. The result was that the Italian police took up the case, but did not locate the men until today. Neither of the prisoners will talk.

Clergyman's Wife Alleged Shoplifter.

Chicago, Nov. 13.—Mrs. Josephine McAmis, who declares she is the wife of Rev. James McAmis, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church at Hebron, Ill., was arrested yesterday at a State street store charged with shoplifting. When she was searched at the Central Station ribbons and hosiery, valued at $14, were found in her possession. As she was placed under arrest the woman became hysterical, and pleaded for her release. She said that her arrest would ruin her social standing both at Hebron and Alton, Ill., where, she declared, her father was a teacher in the public schools.

Tobacco Factories Dynamited.

Paducah, Ky., Nov. 13—A war is on between tobacco growers in Caldell and Lyon countries and the tobacco trust, and several large trust warehouses were dynamited and completely wrecked last night. The warehouses were those of the American Snuff Company, and were located at Princeton, Caldwell county; Fredonia, Eddyville, and Kutawa, Lyon county. The dynamiters worked from Princeton West. At all towns the detonations awoke hundreds of residents and shook buildings for miles about.

Ascot Park Doomed.

Los Angeles, Cals., Nov. 13.—Racing at Ascot Park was doomed by voting yesterday to annex the district in which the track is located. It will now come under the anti-gambling ordinances of the city. Bookmaking and all forms of gambling must cease. Racing will stop at Ascot, but it is said that projected track of "Lucky" Baldwin at his incorporated town of Arcadia will be finished at once.

More Assaults.

Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 13.—The recent race riot produced no deterring influence on negro assaults on white women, for another dasterdly outrage was perpetrated within four miles of this city today. After being bound tight with a rope and choked into insensibility Mrs. Camp, a white woman, was brutally assaulted by a negro. A posse with bloodhounds is on the trail.

A Father's Terrible Discovery.

Thomsston, Ga., Nov. 13.—State Representative J. E. Smith extinguished a fire burning at his home at Davenport today, and was horrified to find the charred body of his handsome daughter on the couch. The girl's clothing had taken fire, presumably from a curling-iron heater.

She died today soon after speaking and her relatives have been greatly excited by the phenomenon.

B. & O. Files Complaint.

The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad has filed a complaint with the Interstate Commerce Commission regarding the cutting of rates made by various southern roads, which have the advantage of a part water haul from northern points, and asks an order prohibiting them from cutting under the direct all-rail haul. The various railroad systems of the Atlantic seaboard south of the Potomac, especially the southern systems, have been making through rates from the large inland manufacturing towns of New York, Pennsylvania and New Jersey which are outside of their territory to St. Louis and the West over entirely new routes at considerably less than the prevailing rates from these manufacturing towns, by way of the Baltimore and Ohio, Pennsylvania and other lines, which run directly west of St. Louis.

Entertained the Choir.

Miss Katherine Stuart, of Alexandria, the former director of St. Andrew's Church choir, delightfully entertained the members of the choir at the home of Miss Grace Palmer on Tuesday evening last. Her description of her travel across the continent was highly enjoyed by the large number present. Not only the members of her former choir were present, but those of the choral class as well. Although Miss Stuart has been separated from the work of St. Andrew's for more than two years, she is still dearly loved by her former pupils, and her visits to Richmond are always welcomed with joy. Miss Stuart had with her a number of most interesting sketches of her travels, and presented each one with a beautiful souvenir.—[Richmond-Times Dispatch.

Local and Through Freight.

The impression which has lately prevailed that the Southern and Baltimore and Ohio Railroads contemplated the re-establishment of the transfer service between this city and Shephard's has been blurred by a report circulated in the western portion of the city this morning to the effect that all through freight trains will continue to run via the new union depot to Washington and the north, and that freight cars intended for the Potomac yards north of this city will be taken to the Duke street yard of the Southern Railway from which point they will be sent to their destination by way of Henry street. This plan will, it is said, be put into effect on the first proximo.

Henry Murray, colored, was exhibiting a curiosity today in the shape of an octopus (devilfish), which he took from a lake pike that he purchased in the city market today. The pike was about one foot in length. The octopus was two inches long with tentacles extending about four inches. It was incased in a sac in the pike.

The Showman's Ward.

"The Showman's Ward," which was presented at the Lyceum Hall last evening by the Lyceum Dramatic Club, under the direction of Mr. A. D. Montier, was pronounced by all who witnessed it a decided success. Mrs. A. D. Montier, as Patty Willis, Plimmins' ward, made a decided hit and is deserving of special mention. Carl A. Rothmund, as Hans Dinkelberger, a speculator, and H. Linden Wheatley, as Props, the very toughest, delighted the audience with their comical actions and speeches. The part of Junius Brutus Plimmins, a praise tragedian, was ably taken by Martin E. Green, as were the parts of Johnny Joy, Comedian of Plimmin's All-star Comedy Aggregation by John F. Lucas; Ripley Olden Gay, Patty's uncle, by E. F. Birrell; Prof. Obrion, proprietor of a Female Seminary, by R. C. Green; Sheriff Clutch and Mr. Doubleface by James W. B. Petty; Juliana DeLight, Plimmins' Leading Lady, by Miss Ida Breen; Judith Obrion, the Professor's sister, by Miss Marie Fannon; Dora, of the Plimmins' troupe, by Miss Annie Moore, and Amy, a school girl by Miss Katherine Birrell. The parts of school girls and actors were ably taken by Misses I. Montier, Helen Patterson, H. Nugent, L. Moore, M. Chauncey, M. Nugent, A. Moore and Messrs. H. Adcock, James Patterson and Edward Power. The musical numbers were especially attractive, the selections "When the Snow Birds Cross the Valley," "So Long, Mary," "Moon Dear" and "Wont You Come Over to my House" calling forth continued applause.

Personal.

Mr. J. C. Smoot and family have returned from North Wilkesbor, N. C. where they spent the summer and fall.

Mrs. H. C. Ansley is quite sick at her home on Prince street.

Mrs. Isobel G. Johnson is visiting her sons in New York.

The many friends of Dr. T. Marshall Jones will regret to hear that he continues quite ill at his home on Prince street.

No Bidders.

Under the law, City Treasurer Robinson offered for sale at public auction yesterday all the property delinquent for State taxes since 1884. The list included nearly 1,000 pieces of property, but not a bidder appeared and the treasurer was unable to dispose of a single piece of the property. Much of the property was unproperly assessed and improperly described, and even if the sales had been made it is doubtful if in many cases the State could have given proper titles to the purchasers. The property now stands as if it had not been offered for sale.

Special Term

Judge Turner, of the Circuit Court of Loudoun, held a special term of his court in this city today, when the case of Moore, Clemmons & Co. vs. Grubb Bros., again came up on a motion to dissolve an injunction heretofore granted restraining Grubb Bros. from issuing insurance policies in certain territory. Arguments were being heard when this report closed.

A Good Show.

The Mildred and Rouclere Co., an organization composed of some of the best talent, presented "The Flight of Princess Iris" at the Opera House last night to a fair-sized, but well pleased audience. Rouclere was very clever in his tricks, while Mildred did some bewildering feats in her "telepathetic seance." Williams and Melbourne made a hit in their singing and comedy act. Ed. Leslie, monologue artist, and Dick Lezgett, the English comique, were also good. The entertainment throughout was very enjoyable.

The Bartered Bridegroom.

There are held here many "confidential weddings," as they are called when the ceremony is kept unusually quiet. But sometimes they are too confidential to please the relatives of the parties. The coercion of prospective brides under such circumstances is a proceeding well authenticated in fact and fiction. A kidnaped bridegroom, however, is unusual, though he happened at St. George's not long ago. He was a gentleman of position, and he wished to marry a lady who had nursed him through an illness. There was no cause or just impediment save social rank. The gentleman was determined, and the lady seconded his plans admirably. But the day and the details leaked out, and before the time fixed the bridegroom's male relatives deployed strategically through Maddox street and surrounded the church. He drove up in a hansom cab. With his eyes fixed on the expectant bride, he prepared to alight. An athletic uncle and a brother sprang forward, thrust him back, with a "Glad to meet you, old fellow" manner that deceived the cabman, who obeyed the quick direction he heard and drove the three away. The lady, with tears in her eyes, went into the vestry. "There will be no wedding," she said. "They've run away with him." And that was the last St. George's heard of them.—London Mail.

Vulgarity No Irish Trait.

There are certain nations that have the quality of vulgarity strongly in the blood, and indeed it seems to testify to a strong and full blooded vitality, a desire for self assertion, and thus we may expect to find vulgarity dogging like a shadow the footsteps of strong, capable and pushing nationalities. But there are certain nations that have been accused of many faults that yet have never been accused of being vulgar. The Irish are a case in point. They have been accused of levity, of undue conviviality, of frivolity, of a tendency to romance, of untrustworthiness, of irresponsibility, but they have never been accused of vulgarity. There lies deep in the Celtic temperament a rich vein of emotion, a strong relish for the melancholy side of life. It is on this that their incomparable sense of humor is based, and it may be said that no one who feels at home with melancholy, who luxuriates in the strange contrast between the possibilities and the performances of humanity, is in any danger of vulgarity, for one of the essential components of vulgarity is a complacent self satisfaction, and if a man is apt to dwell regretfully on what might have been rather than cheerfully upon what is there is but little room for complacency.—A. C. Benson in Atlantic.

He Obeyed Orders.

Sir Henry Roscoe tells this of the scientist Faraday and his assistant, Sergeant Anderson: "Anderson was the sole assistant to Faraday and of course was utterly uneducated in scientific matters, but he could obey orders, which is not always a characteristic of an educated man. One day Anderson was told by Faraday to keep stirring a pot containing some chemicals over a fire until he returned, Faraday being in the habit of going upstairs to tea in his rooms and coming down directly afterward to work in the laboratory during the evening. For some reason he was prevented from coming down again and forgot that he had told Anderson to watch the pot. On coming down the next morning he found Anderson still stirring the pot, having been at it the whole night and thus carrying out the order which was given him."

His Record.

Laird—Well, Sandy, you are getting very bent. Why don't you stand straight up like me, man? Sandy—Eh, mon, do you see that field o' corn over there? Laird—I do. Sandy—Weel, ye'll notice that the full heids hang down and the empty ones stand up.—Glasgow News.

Economical.

"Mother said she thought you were extravagant, Tom, but I proved you were not."

"You darling! How did you do that?"

"Told her you were with me two hours last night and only kissed me once."

Very Thoughtful.

"Just before poor old Dooley died he made his wife promise that she would not marry again."

"Poor old chap—he always was kind to his fellow men!"—Tit-Bits.

Nowadays He Wants the Earth.

Times have changed since the poet wrote "Man wants but little here below."—Chicago Tribune.
